STUFFED ANIMAL AFFIRMATIONS

The relationship we have with our stuffed animals is a special and sometimes sacred one... Unless you're a huge pervert! Some people love their plushes more than most, and that's hot. But on the other hand, there are those who see their fuzzy friends with a kind of reverence, and that's perfectly fine as well. This is your call to hold space for both kinds of plush enthusiasts as we go through our nonjudgmental list of Stuffed Animal Affirmations.

Affirmations For All Plush Owners:

- ★ Your stuffed loved ones do not think lesser of you for expressing your sexuality however is most comfortable
- ★ Your plushies have the utmost respect for you regardless of your shape, color, creed, etc.
- ★ They will never stop loving you no matter what you do for your own well being, even if it means they must part with you
- ★ They are your ride or die's, they support you fully and openly through anything
- ★ All is forgiven if they fall off your bed

For Those Who Are Civil With Their Stuff:

- ★ Respecting your plushies doesn't make you a prude or any less progressive
- ★ Adulthood is a normal part of life and they are understanding of this beyond your childhood innocence
- ★ They will not be upset if you forget to turn them around while you express your sexual side

For The Ones Who Like Their Stuff Sexy:

- ★ They love your touch, be it gentle or rough, they can handle it all
- ★ Your plushie sexual partners do not find you disgusting or depraved
- ★ If you are fond of multiple stuffed friends, they will not grow jealous or feel neglected if you take time away from one or another
- ★ They think you're the hottest thing they've ever laid plastic eyes on

NOT FOR TEACH

Truth BE TOLD

I never cared for fellow peers my age in a romantic sense. When asked who I had a crush on in high school, I had to fess up that I had the hots for THREE different male teachers!

These men weren't young and model-like heartthrobs. They were middle aged, balding, and had young kids of their own.

First was the drama teacher. I loved his great enthusiasm for acting big and bold and his fun attitude. He was kind of a nerdy looking type with glasses and khakis. You could always hear him coming by the sound of his keys.

Second was the psychology teacher. Kind of a down to earth man with long gray hair and a soothing sexy voice. I'll never forget the way he described the curves and plumpness of the Venus of Willendorf like it was the pinnacle of sexuality that one day in class. He looked good with his rolled up sleeves and stubble.

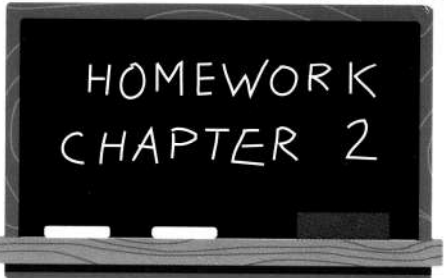

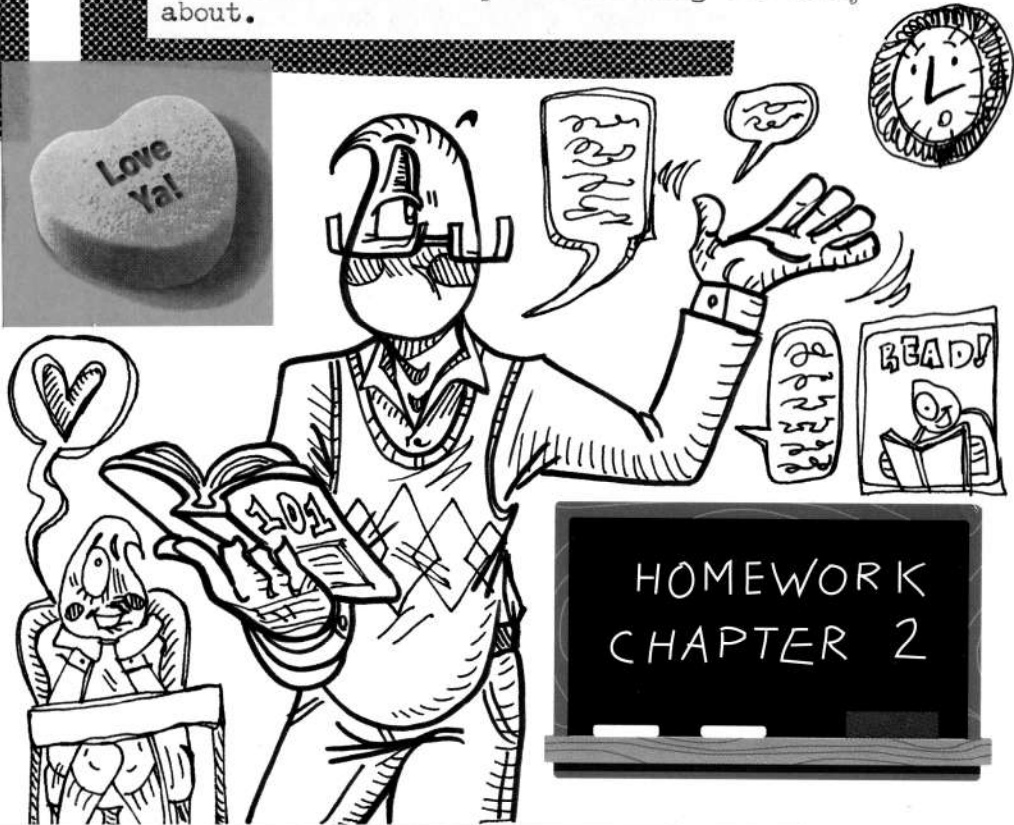

Third was the world history teacher. Kind of a former jock now settled down. He wasn't s uper sexy like Mr. psych or flashy like Mr. Drama, but he knew his way around world history and he would lecture it like he was there. I had his class after lunch, so I would fall asleep during the documentaries and he was sweet enough to let me do so in peace.

Being underaged at the time, I never let on to my teachers about my crushes, but my friends did tease me relentlessly for it and almost passed a note to Mr. Psych about it during an assembly! OMG I wanted to kill them!

I say there's no harm in an unrequited little crush. It was fun to look forward to classes, which is like pulling teeth for a teenager at times. I knew better than to act on these feelings, knowing that I could get these men in some serious trouble if it were to lead to anything, and at worst for me, make things awkward or give my future therapist something to worry about.

So Obsessed

There are dark feelings inside you

Deep shame wells up within you

You can hide them

But don't run,
don't run

You don't have to tell them

But don't run, don't run from yourself

They make up who you are, so don't run

Let yourself stop and breathe

Let yourself be at ease

Don't run

Don't be a fighter

Don't run, just let yourself be

a lover

I won't lie, times are tough for us queers, faggots, hypersexuals, and whatever have you's...

But we can't give up.

I posted on bluesky a while back with the following posts and got a lot more feedback than I expected. It seems to have resonated with a lot of folks, and I share it with you in hopes that it will resonate with you or your loved ones as well.

"You've got to outlive the haters and be as authentically queer and transgender and gay and pleasure seeking and YOURSELF and whatever have you as you possibly can. No matter how much you stand out. They want you dead, but you gotta jerk your queer junk and laugh in their faces instead. I'm serious.

My queer loved ones include extended family and thinking about the possibility of having to remember them instead of celebrate alongside them in life makes me feel a certain kind of fierce. Like a goddamn tiger. I'll defend and lift up my fellow faggots to no end. You got tigers on your side. Nice.

My dad once misunderstood me dyeing my hair w/o permission in high school as wanting to be different because I wasn't confident in myself. I AM different, and it takes more confidence and bravery than he'll ever know to allow myself to stick out like hell than to slink in the shadows and go unnoticed.

Never let anyone dull your goddamn sparkle. The only body and life you have authority over is yours and damn straight nobody's taking that from you, try as they fucking might. It's natural to feel like taking a dive 'cause of how people make you feel. But you absolutely can't let them. Outlive 'em.

If any of this empowered, motivated, or moved you, you are gay."
